

Hello as you can probably see that this project involves a lot of Modules for me. You should be able to find everything you need in the repo in github the links for the deployed site can be found in the readme so can everything else. I have worked a lot and I apologize if I forgot any files that needed to be submitted. Thank you for taking the time to go through this. Have a good time!